The question is ofted asked, "What are the rules for laying out mile and half-mile tracks?" The following simple directions may be found useful:

For a mile track draw a line through an oblong center 440 yards in length, setting a stake at each end. Then draw a line on either side of the first line, exactly paralel with, and 417 feet two inches from it, setting stakes at either end of them. You will then have an oblong square 440 yards long and 834 inches wide. At each end of these lines you will now set stakes. Now fasten a chord or wire 417 feet two inches long to the center stake of your paralleo-gram, and then describe a half-circle, driving stakes as often as you wish to set a fence post. When the circle is made at both ends of your paralleo-gram you will have two straight sides and two circles which, measured three feet from the fence, will be exactly one mile. The turns should the extreme ends of the two parallel lines drive a stake, then loop a wire reach to either side. Then mark a true curve with the wire as often as a fence-post is needed. When this op-

Will Secretaries Gresham aml Carlisle retire from the cabinet? If that question has been asked once it has been asked ten thousand times, and the reason is not difficult to locate, although to tell the truth no one expected family jars in the administration before the time allotted for the honeymoon had fairly expired. These two Secretaries are the only men of proved strength and individuality in the cabinet, and the prediction was freely made, by Democrats as well as by Republicans, when they first accepted their present positions that it was only a question of time when they would revolt. Well, they have not exactly revolted, but they have reached that stage of mind which is next door to an open revolt, they regret having joined the Cabinet and any day one or both of them may tender their resignations, unless they are treated a little more like advisers, instead of clerks, by Mr. Cleveland, and that isn't at all probable. It is well night certain that if these two men could have back the positions they gave up to enter the Cabinet that they would be very lively in getting out of a very unpleasant situation. Indeed, Mrs. Carlisle has not hesitate I in, saying as much concerning her husband. Secretary says, is trying to grin and bear it. ing become known to some of his

The fact that Senator Gorman has tion. not called at the White House since the present occupant was inaugurated has been the cause of no end of gossip. According to Mr. Gorman's friends he has not called because he has not been asked to do so, and will not until he receives an invitation. Some of Mr. Cleveland's talking friends say that he has not forgiven the Maryland Senator for his hesitation at the Chicago convention, and that he intends to punish him by ignoring him. By and by this may breed trouble, if it isn't fixed up some way. Gorman has been credited with securing more appointments In the Government Printing office than any other Democratic Senator, and it was to make sure prestige in that office would be maintained that he had himself made chairman of the Committe on Printing. THE convict question is one which for years has been a vexing question in many States of the Union, and especially in the South and Kentucky. It has been practically demonstrated hy the past experience of our own State and the recent experience of our sister State of Teuuessee that the people will not submit to competitiou with convict labor. But there is an employment sufficient for the working of all our eouviets, and that is the placing them at work upon the public highways. In Memory of C. S. McLean.

Never did an accident happen in the little town of Hartford that caused. more universal sorrowthan the drowning of Mr. C. S. McLean, Sunday afternoon, March 26, 1893. Although a comparative stranger in our community, by his winsome manners, bright and happy disposition, and religious virtues, he had won the love and confidence of his associates, teachers and class-mates. He was indeed held as a model young man by all who knew him. He had been a companion of ours for several months, and it was with deep sorrow and regret that we gave him up to the One who claimed him as a jewel. We realize that our loss is Heaven's gain and we submit to Him "who doeth all things well." No more a mother's hand shall smooth his fevered brow or a sister speak sweet words of encouragement to him. But may they ever be as faithful as he, and meet their loved one in the land beyoud the stars. We deeply feel the loss we have sustained but know that Heaven has been enriched, and He who took him from us did it for the best and will comfort the sorrowing Though he be one cruelly torn from the bonds of this sinful world, the light of his noble example of houesty and uprightness will continue to shine, making our pathway seem hind us such a light. We shall hear no more his pleasant voice, but we know that it is heard in the nugels in singing praises that never cease one time, is in God's hand, and well it is so for he will take care of those who me his shall die in the best time. However, their death may seem to us untimely it will not be found unscasonable. His death hns cast a gloom over his home and friends. He is dead but the memory of him shall live forever in the hearts of the people of Hartford.

Extracts from Town Tattler. But just isn't Mr. F. M. Westerfield getting to be a great joker. Not long ago he perpetrated the hound pup joke on our jolly Jailor and now he's having fellows feed fertilizer for ship stuff. Frank, is this natural with you or is it acquired after long years of practice?

Recently, that whole-souied feilow, Evans Cornelius, who works at Field's Livery Stable, was in the Feed Store of J. W. Ford & Co., and noticing a barrel containing some peliar looking composition asked what it was. Mr. F. M. Westerfield, who was present, very graciously informed him it was a new kind of ship stuff, made of corn and oats. Evans is aiways thinking of the welfare of the horses of the stable and remarked that he believed he would take a doublehandful over to the stable and try it, and so he did. He poured the new found treasure into the trough of a favorite horse but the equine was seized with fright or some inexplicable desire to get away from the trough, and was soon pulling back by the halter with all his might. Go near that trough? Not he. At last Evans awoke to the fact that he had been made the victim of a joke, and that instead of the composition being feed as represented by Mr. Westerfield, it was fertilizer of the rankest odor. If you wish to be on friendly terms with all men don't mention fertilizer to Evans Cornelius.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1893.

The Whinky Question. Some years ago the good people of Ohio county voiced their sentiments in regard to the whisky question, and the result was a complete victory for prohibition. But now Hartford steps to the front, regardless of the will of the people of the county, and says by a petition to the court that she wants open saloons. And as a matter of not have had anything coming to course the court didn't have backbone enough to say nay to these petitions, but shuffled the responsibility on to the voters, who, it is to be hoped, stinging rebuke to those who had the effrontery to sign the petition, that they will not likely have the Impudence to again petition for a redress of grievances, as they are pleased to call them, and perhaps justly enough as far as they are individually concerned. I do not know any of the men who signed the petition, but venture the assertion, that they are either men who expect to profit by the sale of whisky, or men who find Dr. Drummond's Lightning Remedy it inconvenient to satisfy their lnsa- is the only known cure. Agents tree; at the Beaver tiable thirst for it under the existing law. But rather than own the truth, for they know that would be suicidal to their degraded ambitions, they make all kind of excuses, saying: "That the law does not prohibit," and that the sale of vile stuff will in some way be a help to the town. And for once they have told the truth, for it is an undeniable fact that it will help to bring to the town-well, in short, everything that is disgraceful. But as to the argument that it does not prohibit, it is without torce. The most rigidly enforced quarantine laws of our country do not prohibit jority of the people of Ohio county. And now, as a lover of law, order and decency, let me admonish the good people of Hartford to think twice-yea, thrice before they, on May 2d, exercise the God-given right of suffrage. Let no man, who has any respect for his country, for his town, for the best interests of society and himself, cast his ballot in favor of that which sinks human beings to the level of the brutes. But rather let him cast it on the side of law, order and decency, and for the cause that would built up and elevate society they do not absolutely prohibit these

An Epock in Journalism,

On Sunday, March 12, the Sunday Press, of New York, started a feature that will mark an epoch in American Journalism. It consists of an Art Cover, in which the paper when folded to the quarter size, is encased, and it has created an unprecedented demand for the Sunday Press among all classes of people.

The front page of the Art Cover, next Sunday, will show a beautiful reproduction of the German masterpiece, "St Cecillia," and for the four Sundays in April it will present an original water paintings in the original colors by an eminent American artist, and two reproductions of famons paintings, admitted masterpieces. The inside page of the Art Cover will always contain exquisite half-tone portraits and illustrations of people and topics of the then current week.

Every copy of the Art Cover of any issue of the Sunday Press would command in any art store at least $1.00.

FORDSVILLE. March 31.—As I have had as good or better opportunities than any one else to know how things are managed at Shaffer's Camp. I feel it but justice to that gentleman and his assistants to make a few statements. The negroes are paid a good price and when they are in health Mr. Shaffer expects them to do good work which any man would expect. When they are sick they have as good care us can be given in a camp. If the negroes are not watched they will not care for each other. It they were not compelled to get wood to keep fires, the sick would freeze. A few days ngo a sick man fell as he went from the fire to his bed, though there were several negroes around, it was some time before the commissary clerk could get assistance in putting the man on his bed. One man has been sick since Christmas and two others but in no case shall safety be sacri-

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure No. wegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda has had such a large sale is because it is "Almost as palatable as milk;" but the best reason is that its curative properties are unequalled. It cures the cough, supplies the waste of tissues, produces flesh and builds up the entire system.

Scott's Emulsion ouros Coughs, Coids, Consumption, Scrofule, and all Anaemic and Wasting Diseases. Prevents wasting in children. Almost as paintable as allk. Cet only the germine. Brenard by Scott & Howne, Chemists, New Pork. Sold by all Druggists.
